Clients value Sam Kennedy's understanding of their business needs, diligence and strong problem-solving capacities, trusting him to navigate complex M&A, private equity and capital markets transactions with practical, tailored solutions.

Before becoming an associate at Bennett Jones, Sam gained valuable experience at another leading corporate law firm, where he further developed his skills in business law.

During his studies at the University of Montréal, Sam spent a semester studying abroad at the University of Lisbon and completed a clerkship at the Superior Court of Québec. He also earned the Roy-Bélanger and the LSA Involvement scholarships in recognition of his outstanding community involvement and excellent academic record.
